MAJOR News

MHP Employees Contribute over $100,000 for the Second Consecutive Year

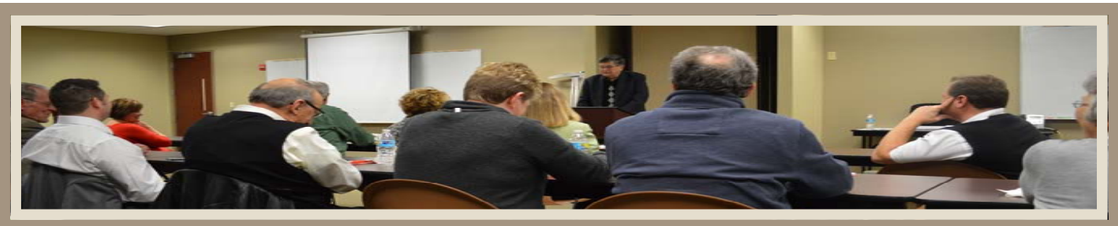
The Major Hospital Foundation Employee Giving committee ended the year with a bang! For the second consecutive year, the MHP employees pledged to contribute over $100,000. Last year, the committee set a goal to raise $100,000 a year for five years to contribute to the building campaign for Your New MHP.

The MHP Giving Tree is the recognition group for all MHP employees who contribute to the Major Hospital Foundation. This year's drive brought in 34 new members to the group, bringing the overall membership to 373 employees.

The theme of this year's campaign was "Stay Connected to Our Future." The committee really wanted to emphasize the importance of this new facility to the future of our organization. "As MHP employees, we are the biggest supporters of the new MHP Medical Center," said Terri Muldoon, Employee Giving Committee co-chair.

The campaign closed out with a Construction Zone Party on the last day of the drive. Employees were invited to join the fun during their lunch hour. The party included games including I Spy the Legoman, Guess the Number of Legos in the Jar, an inspirational talk by MHP CEO, Jack Horner and of course, cake!

We are extremely proud of the example our employees set for the rest of the community.



Economist Morton Marcus Speaks to MHF Supporters

Morton Marcus, director emeritus of the Indiana Business Research Center at the Kelley School of Business gave an enlightening and amusing talk about the Moral Foundations of Capitalism to a group of thirty Major Hospital Foundation supporters on January 26.

The Major Hospital Foundation frequently hosts free seminars and presentations as a community service on a wide variety of topics. This particular event was planned and sponsored by the Planned Giving Committee. One attendee commented that he enjoyed attending because it's always good to be exposed to new ways of thinking.

Major Psychology Services Provides Education at Local MOPs Groups

On two separate occasions during January, the Major Hospital Foundation partnered with local MOPs groups to provide top notch education around relevant topics. MOPs stands for Mothers of Preschoolers and is a prominent support group for mothers with over 3900 groups throughout the United States.

Major Psychology Services staff psychologists Dr. Ashleigh Woods and Dr. Candace Schmidt provided expert knowledge on the topics of Anxiety in Children and Protecting Your Children From Sexual Predators, respectively. The two sessions combined touched over 45 local moms in Shelby and Johnson counties.

Are you interested in having a speaker come to one of your local meetings? The Major Hospital Foundation can provide speakers on numerous topics not limited to healthcare. To find out more, please call the Foundation office at (317) 421-0361.
